BESIDE HIS BELOVED.

Funeral of Late Governor Hogg Attended by Vast Concourse.

Austin, March 5.—The remains of the late James Stephen Hogg lay in state Monday surrounded by beautiful floral tributes from various cities. All departments were closed, the supreme court adjourned and many business houses closed their doors while the funeral services were in progress. Thousands of people looked for the last time upon the face of the distinguished dead, and few were the eyes that were not bedimmed with tears. The funeral services, which were simple, were held in the senate chamber, and were conducted by Revs. J. A. French, pastor of the First Baptist church, and S. H. Werlein, pastor of the Tenth Street Methodist Episcopal church, South. Both pastors paid touching tributes to the high character of the Lone Star's great son.

The procession to the city of the dead was one of the longest ever witnessed in this city. The honorary pallbearers were Governor Lanham, ex-Governor Sayres, Chief Justice Gaines, Associate Justice Williams, Judge Denman, Henry Marsh, Colonel T. M. Campbell, O. T. Holt, Colonel R. M. Wynne, Waller Baker, R. N. Stafford and R. M. Johnston.

The active pallbearers were Major G. W. Littlefield, Judge J. H. Robertson, R. W. Finley, John L. Gray, W. R. Hamby, John W. Robinson, John D. McCall, ex-Senator Chilton, W. W. Finley, E. M. House, E. R. Kone, Joseph Nolle, W. T. Campbell and Jeff Johnston.

At the cemetery, beside the remains of the dear wife who some years ago passed away, and whom he loved as few mortals do, the honored civilian was laid to rest. His grave and that of his dear companion were covered with numerous floral remembrances.

POSTPONED UNTIL APRIL.

Railroads Except to Answer, Contending It Is Insufficient.

Austin, March 5.—Exceptions of railroads to answer of railroad commission to bill of complaint in dry goods emergency injunction suits, which was to have come up for hearing Monday in Federal court, were postponed until the first Monday in April. The railroads except to the answer, as they contend it is insufficient. The railroads appear to be eager to test the commission's power to make emergency suits and are opposed to dismissing suits.

DWELT ON GRAFT.

Judge Scott Resents the Idea That Texas Is Honeycombed.

Waco, March 5.—In charging the grand jury Monday Judge Scott of the Fifty-fourth district court spoke for an hour on alleged graft in Texas, resenting the idea that the state was honeycombed in that way. He said some newspapers were claiming graft existed everywhere, and said these papers were recreant to their trust if they did not expose the cases, as libel laws were so framed that papers could safely do this, and that they could not hide behind the claim that libel laws were too strict.

CONTINUES TO ROAR.

Flames From Gas Well Go One Hundred and Fifty Feet.

Caney, Kan., March 5.—The great gas well, five miles from here in Indian Territory, which has been burning since Feb. 23, when it was struck by lightning, continued its roaring Monday. Flames were forced 150 feet into the air and were visible forty miles away Sunday night. The fire is probably one of the worst of its kind gas men ever had to combat. An effort to drop an immense iron cap over the well was made, but the cap, weighing 3,000 pounds, turned to white heat when within twenty feet of the well.

One Million Dollars' Damage Done By Conflagration.

Austin, March 6.—The 268,000-acre ranch of Major George W. Littlefield, in Lamb and Hockley counties was burned over by a prairie fire. Two hundred thousand acres of grass and 250 head of cattle were burned.

According to Major Littlefield's advice the fire started 100 miles northwest of his ranch and burned to it, making a loss of over $1,000,000. He says that the only redeeming feature is that it is springtime and that the grass will grow in about forty or forty-five days.

For Alderman J. E. COVEY.
J. W. BATTS.

Marlin is raising funds for sidewalk building by private subscription.

The death of Gov. Hogg removed from Texas a man of national reputation and influence. This prestige came to him through his services as attorney-general and governor, positions a majority of men hold without attracting any attention beyond the borders of their own states. Gov. Hogg was a man of unusual ability and force of character, and we believe those who opposed him most strenuously will not now, after reviewing his life, doubt his patriotism.

FRED EMERSON BROOKS.

Fred Emerson Brooks will appear at the opera house Thursday evening, Feb. 15, under the auspices of the Bryan Lyceum. An advance notice says:

"Mr. Brooks is a native of New York. He graduated from Colgate University, Hamilton, New York, and afterwards lived in San Francisco for seventeen years, returning then to New York.

"The inimitable wit and humor of his verse keeps the audience in a roar. He has a marvelous oratorical power, with a voice of thunder, which at his will he can make as soft as a summer zephyr. There is nothing within the range of the human voice which he does not seem equal to. There is no passion or feeling he does not portray, nor dialect, nor character, nor sound of animals about the farmyard he does not imitate."

LETTER TO EAGLE READERS.

E. J. Jenkins Guarantees Hyomei to Cure Catarrh or It Costs Nothing.

Editors of the Eagle:

In view of the prevalence of catarrhal troubles at this season of the year, I want to tell your readers that I have never sold anything that gave more satisfaction than Hyomei, when used in catarrhal troubles. You get immediate relief from the treatment, and consistent use will prove to every sufferer, as it has to many of our customers, the virtue of this preparation.

Personally I am interested in Hyomei, for it is made and sold on honor, and I do not want your money unless you are benefited and satisfied.

There is no stomach dosing in connection with Hyomei. It is a thoroughly local treatment for a local disease, and its soothing, healing medication goes direct to the spot where it is needed.

The complete Hyomei outfit consists of a pocket inhaler, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei, and the price is only $1, while additional bottles can be obtained for 50 cents. I positively guarantee a cure when Hyomei is used in accordance with directions, or I will refund your money. This certainly shows my faith and belief in the virtues of Hyomei.

Yours very truly,

E. J. Jenkins.

Easy to take and easy to act is Little Early Risers. This is due to the fact that they tonic the liver in-

THE GIANT INDIANS.

Peccoliar Ways of the Onas of Tierra del Fuego.

The Onas, a tribe of Indians inhabiting the mainland of the Tierra del Fuego island, are physical giants. Their average height is over six feet. A few are six and one-half feet; a few fall below six feet. The women are more compact and not so tall. There is no race in the world with a more perfect physical development than the Ona Indians. This is partly due to the topography of the country and the distribution of the game, which makes long marches across the country a necessity.

In mentality they fall far below their physical attainments. In the past their supply of game has been plentiful, and this may account for the lack of inventive genius among them. This lack of progressive skill is portrayed in their home life, clothing and homes. Their children suffer from it, for, contrary to the practice common among most Indians of feeding, dressing and training the children well, the Onas' little ones are mostly naked, poorly fed and altogether neglected. They have abundant material for supplying themselves with clothing and homes, and yet they throw a few branches together, put skins over the windward side and then shiver under the miserable shelter.

Scientists who have made a study of the subject say that the language of the Onas is the strangest ever listened to. Many of the words are not difficult to pronounce, nor is the construction of the sentences difficult, but very few words are interrupted by a sound which it is impossible to produce. The speaker hacks, coughs and grunts, distorting his face in the most inhuman manner, and then passes on to the next stumbling block. The Onas live principally upon meat, which in former years was obtained from the guanaco.—New York Herald.

ST. SWITHIN AND RAIN.

The Legend of the Chapel Over the Bishop's Grave.

The superstitions referring to particular days are very numerous. The legend of St. Swithin is an example that will occur to every one:

St. Swithin's day, if thou dost rain, For forty days it will remain; St. Swithin's day, if thou be fair, For forty days 'twill rain a rare.

St. Swithin, bishop of Winchester, according to the author of "The Popular Antiquities," was "a man equally noted for uprightness and humility." So far did he carry the latter virtue that on his deathbed he requested to be buried not within the church, but outside the churchyard on the north of the sacred building, where his corpse might receive the eavesdroppings from the roof and his grave be trodden by the feet of passersby. His lowly request was complied with, and in this neglected spot his remains reposed till about 100 years afterward, when a fit of pious indignation seized the clergy at the fact that the body of so holy a member of their order was allowed to occupy such a position, and on an appointed day they all assembled to convey it with great pomp to the adjoining cathedral of Winchester. When they were about to commence the ceremony a heavy rain burst forth and continued without intermission for the forty succeeding days. The monks interpreted this tempest as a warning from heaven of the blasphemous nature of their attempt to contravene the direction of St. Swithin, and instead of disturbing his remains they erected a chapel over his grave." "St. Swithin is christening the apples!" is the more poetical way of describing St. Swithin's rain.

The Moon's Phases.

The phases of the moon are caused by its relative position to the earth and the sun, so that when it is full moon in one part of the earth it is full moon in all parts of the earth, and so for all its other phases. The moon revolves around the earth once in twenty-seven days, though on account of the earth's revolution around the sun the mean duration of the lunar month—that is, the time from new moon to new moon —is twenty-nine days, twelve hours and forty-four minutes. The "dark of the moon" is that half of the lunar month during which the moon shines least at night.

A Cold, Hard Snub.

"Excuse me, madam," he said, "but —ah—you remember, in the restaurant after the theater the other night you were kind enough to notice me. I hope I am not mistaken in supposing that your interest was—ah—not altogether?"

"Oh, not at all. I remember now.
I thought for a moment that you were the coachman my husband discharged a few weeks ago for trying to make love to the cook, and I wondered how you could afford to eat in such an expensive place."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Reminiscent.

The author had written one successful story, and he never grew tired talking of it.

"Don't you know," said one of his friends to another one day, "Ritter always reminds me of a pleased dog."
"That's odd. How does he?"

"He's always wagging his tale."

Explained.

Mistress (on the second day to new cook)—Kathi, just be so good as to lend me 5 marks. Cook (aside)—Ha, ha! That's why she said yesterday the cook in her house was treated as one of the family!

It is only by labor that thought can be made healthy, and only by thought that labor can be made happy, and the two cannot be separated with impunity.

Negro Who Outraged and Murdered Miss Lear Executed.

Shreveport, March 1.—Charles Coleman, the negro who outraged and murdered Margaret Lear near here last week, was legally executed in the parish jail at 12:37 o'clock Thursday.

No excitement attended the execution public feeling having subsided since the conviction of Coleman last Saturday. Governor Blanchard arrived at 10 o'clock and shortly after signed the death warrant. All preparations had previously been made for the hanging. Coleman confessed to the murder of Miss Lear and also admitted having killed a negro at Cypress, La., two years ago.

The hour of the execution was kept a secret, and the announcement was only made when it was over. Military and police kept the curious crowds away from the jail until Coleman paid the forfeit.

A great crowd gathered around the rope cordon at the jail, which the militia still guarded, and when it was learned the trap was sprung great cheers were sent up.

Coleman was locked in his cell for some time Thursday morning with different ministers, among them being some of his own race. One of these conducted him to the foot of the scaffold, and Coleman did not lose a particle of his nerve. He walked with a slow, but steady step, and took his position on the scaffold when motioned to by the hangman.

When asked if he had anything to say he replied: "I am guilty of killing that little girl; I am sorry of it. That's all I have got to say." He smiled once when the hangman touched his chin and pointed upward. The cap was placed over his head and rope adjusted. Just as the hangman placed his foot on the trigger Coleman exclaimed: "Good-bye." The trap flew open and his body shot through. He was pronounced dead in thirteen minutes, his neck being broken.

One of the murdered girl's brothers witnessed the execution.
